

OUTRAGE AND INTIMIDATION (IRELAND).

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 4 March 1890;—for,

RETURN " of certain cases of OUTRAGE and INTIMIDATION referred to by the Chief Secretary for Ireland in a Speech in the House of Commons on 13th February 1890."

NAME.	DATE.	PLACE.	REMARKS.
John Foran	Boycotted from January 1884 to July 1888; murdered 29 July 1888.	Cashelbeg, County Kerry.	Foran had taken an evicted farm.
Hannah Connell	Boycotted in years 1887-88.	Miltown - Malbay, County Clare.	This woman's son had taken a small piece of land from which another person had been evicted. The boycotting of this aged woman was so severe that at times she was in danger of starvation.
James M'Loughlin	6 January 1888	Cleonsfad, County Roscommon.	M'Loughlin refused to join the Plan of Campaign. He was assaulted while on his way to a fair, and pigs he was conveying to the fair were rendered unsaleable by being pored with a knife.
M. Coffey	Boycotted from 1886 to 1889.	Garteen, County Sligo.	M. Coffey, who was a shopkeeper, had taken an evicted farm. He was most persistently boycotted, and his trade destroyed for a long period.
J. Bouanquet	14 January 1889	Kilmagumogue, County Waterford.	Mr. Bouanquet had taken an evicted farm. He was personally denounced by a local branch of the National League, and some time afterwards a cruel outrage was committed on his estate.
M. Cusby	7 August 1887	Kilcurrish, County Clare.	M. Cusby had taken a vacant farm; while working on the farm he was shot, and boycotting notices were posted in his neighbourhood, denouncing him as a "land grabber."
James and Richard Tomkins.	February 1890, and subsequently.	Carrigthabbin, County Wexford.	Richard Tomkins took an evicted farm. He resided with his brother James, and it was known in the locality that the latter intended to help him to stock it. Threatening notices against "grabbers" were posted in the neighbourhood, and the premises of the Tomkins were maliciously burned, a great number of cattle and pigs, with other property, being destroyed.
